

BattLab

Quality Veterinary Diagnostics
from Disease to Optimal Health

Batt Laboratories Limited invites applications for a full-time clinical pathology position. Batt Laboratories is owned by LABOKLIN GmbH, a leader in veterinary diagnostic development and service throughout Europe. Batt Laboratories has a strong history of personal, high quality, diagnostic laboratory service and seeks a dynamic, board-certified clinical pathologist to join our team.

The main roles of the position include interpretation and consultation on clinical chemistry, haematology, urinalysis, cytological and a wide selection of laboratory results. Contributions towards quality control, managing the technical team and promotion of the laboratory are also valued.

The laboratory is located on the grounds of the University of Warwick Science Park, conveniently positioned on the southwestern outskirts of Coventry (Midlands, United Kingdom). The Midlands area is rich in history and offers a wide array of lifestyles from small picturesque villages to the bustling city nightlife.

Applicants require membership or are membership-eligible of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, and preferably should have board certification in Clinical Pathology (ECVCP, ACVP) or at least be board-eligible. Applicants should be prepared to work in an enjoyable, busy commercial environment.

Working hours are Monday to Friday, from 9am to 6pm (flexible time); no weekends or bank holidays. Attractive holiday entitlement.

For more information or to apply contact Francesco Cian at francesco.cian@battlab.com or 0247 632 3275.