

A position of assistant professor in clinical pathology will be open in January 2021 at the veterinary school of Toulouse, France. The candidate must have a PhD and be graduated from the European or American College of Veterinary Clinical Pathology (or be able eligible to sit within 12 months).

The main aspects of this position will include:

- Lectures to veterinarian students
- Research in acute leukemia
- Cytology, haematology, biochemistry, interpretation of laboratory results and input into the quality system and new processes and procedures.

We will only consider applicants looking for full time hours and able to speak French.

The deadline for the collection of registration files (form to be filled in, job profile, guide for writing the activity report) is set at Friday 30 August 2019 at 5 p.m.

The deadline for the submission of applications (completed form, written activity report, copies of the main titles and diplomas) is Saturday 31 August 2019, as evidenced by the postmark.

For more information and before registration or submission of application, please contact Pr Catherine TRUMEL by e-mail (c.trumel@envt.fr) or by phone (00.336.32.41.68.79).